One Hundred Thousand Complete Volumes of American, English, German and French Serials in stock.... Library wants in Technical Journals, Society Transactions, or popular "Poole" Sets, supplied without delay by The Boston Book Company.

A FEW NOTABLE SETS.

FOR SALE BY THE BOSTON BOOK COMPANY.

PRINCETON REVIEW, 1825–1888, all published.

Comprising:

I. Biblical Repertory, 1825–28, 4 vols.
II. Biblical Repertory and Princeton Review, 1829–71, 43 vols.
III. Presbyterian Quarterly, 1872–77, 6 vols.
IV. Princeton Review, 1878–84, 14 vols.
V. New Princeton Review, 1886–88, 6 vols.

(This set is very scarce, complete, and we are able to offer the whole in fine half morocco binding at a bargain.)

BROWNSON'S QUARTERLY REVIEW, 1844–75, 24 volumes, all published.

This set is composed thus:

I. 1844–6, 3 vols.
II. New Series, 1847–52, 6 vols.
III. Third Series, 1853–55, 3 vols.
IV. New York Series, 1856–59, 4 vols.
V. Third New York Series, 1860–63, 4 vols.
VI. National Series, 1864, 1 vol.
VII. "Last Series," 1873–5, 3 vols.

No numbers were published from 1865–72.

This Review, famous as the publication of O. A. Brownson, had the distinction of being the first American magazine to be re-printed in England. Complete sets seldom come into the market now.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE, 1844–97, 129 volumes.

I. 1844–64, 63 volumes.
II. New Series, 1865–97, vols. 1–66.

For a college or small city library, this set is surpassed in usefulness only by Littell's Living Age. It contains selections from the leading English reviews, and for use with Poole, where the British sets are not available, is very valuable. Sets are seldom complete, as is this, with all the steel plates.

ECLECTIC ENGINEERING MAGAZINE [Van Nostrand's], 1869–86, 35 volumes, all published.

This is a "Poole" set of value, covering as it does a period of years earlier than the Engineering Magazine of 1891, which is still published.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS, 1865–73, 9 volumes, all published - - - $10.00

This splendid juvenile magazine, edited by J. T. Trowbridge, Gail Hamilton and Lucy Larcom, was merged in St. Nicholas in 1873. During its short life it maintained a high standard of excellence, and has always been much in demand by libraries. Sets will soon be much scarcer. We can now offer several at $10 each, unbound. Such an opportunity to replace worn-out sets will not be offered again.

TRUTH, London, Quarto, Weekly, 1877–94, volumes 1 to 36.

(Vols. 24, 26, 27, 28, want titles and indexes.)

AMERICAN JOURNAL OF PHILOLOGY, Baltimore, 1880–1897, vols. 1–18.

This important set edited and published by Prof. Basil L. Gildersleeve, is not often offered for sale. Many of the numbers are entirely out of print.

ILLUSTRATED AMERICAN, N. Y., Feb. 22, 1890–Dec. 25, 1897, vols. 1–22.

This set contains the colored supplements which were issued loose in vols. 1 and 2, and which are almost invariably missing in sets offered for sale.

NATIONAL REVIEW, London, Quarterly, 1855–64, 19 volumes, all published.

Complete sets of this review are not common. It is indexed in Poole and should be in every City Library.

DEUTSCHE RUNDSCHAU, Berlin, octavo, 1874–1895, vols. 1–84.

This popular German literary review, is but little known as yet in the United States. It occupies in Germany, a position nearly like that of the Revue des deux Mondes in France.

ELEKTROTECHNISCHE ZEITSCHRIFT, Berlin, quarto, 1880–94, vols. 1–15.

One of the most important German electrical periodicals, and necessary for any advanced student of the subject.

ACADEMIE (L') ROYALE DES INSCRIPTIONS ET BELLES LETTRES: La Haye et Paris, 16mo.

Memoires de litérature tirés des registres de l'académie . . . depuis son renouvellement jusqu'en 1776, vols. 1–50, 52–81, [1719–1781.]

Histoire de l'académie . . . depuis son établissement jusqu'en 1776, vols. 1–19, 16mo., [1719–81].

NORDISK UNIVERSITETS-TIDSKRIFT, 1–10, [1854–5—1864], 8vo. Kjöbenhavn. 10 volumes.

Bulletin of Bibliography

VOL. 1 OCTOBER, 1898 No. 7

This Bulletin is published, primarily, as a means of communication between the Boston Book Company and its customers. A constant endeavor will be made, however, to include in each issue enough original matter of sufficient value to induce librarians to preserve and bind up the numbers. Each volume will be provided with a title-page and an index.

No subscription price will be put upon the journal, and numbers will not be sold. It will be sent to a selected list of libraries, customers or likely to become customers of the Boston Book Company. The circulation of the Bulletin will be increased in proportion to the interest shown in it, and in the special work of the Library Department of the Boston Book Company. Correspondence is solicited, and should be addressed,

The Boston Book Company,
15½ Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

EDITORIAL.

Do you find our little publication of use to you in your library? If so, will you do your share to help us continue its issue. It is not sold, but must depend for its support upon orders received directly or indirectly through its advertising pages. Please examine carefully pages 99, 100, 111, 112, of the present number, and write us.

It is our constant endeavor to make our BULLETIN OF BIBLIOGRAPHY of permanent value to librarians in the field its name implies. We shall be glad of any contributions in this line which will be of general interest to libraries. As our business field covers serials only, short bibliographical articles, or lists on this subject will be especially welcome. Beginning with the next issue we shall print a series of notes on the bibliography of certain periodicals which have caused trouble to many libraries. The first article will be on "The Strand, Its London and New York Editions."

In the present number the article on Library Buildings by Miss Krause will we think prove a most useful one for reference. It will be concluded in our January number. We have also issued this article in a neat octavo pamphlet printed on a paper that will allow of annotations in ink. This is for sale, price 25 cents. It forms Bulletin of Bibliography Pamphlet, No. 5.

THE ORIGINAL "POOLE'S INDEX."

WILLIAM I. FLETCHER.

AT the San Francisco meeting of the American Library Association in 1891, Mr. J. C. Rowell, librarian of the University of California, exhibited what he called a "Prehistoric Poole," and read several letters which had passed between himself, Dr. Poole and others as to the document in question, which was an eight-page pamphlet entitled, "Subjects for Debate, with References to Authorities," issued at Yale College in January, 1847, over a year before the first edition of Poole. The authorship of this pamphlet was claimed by John Edmands, librarian of the Mercantile Library of Philadelphia, and Dr. Poole supported that claim, but wrote in 1888, "I do not now recollect that I ever saw it. . . I am very sure that I did not get my ideas from him, or this list." And again, "It is very singular that I never saw it; but it is probably accounted for by the fact that I did not go into library work until six months after it appeared."

Apparently no more was said about this matter after 1891 until this year, when the appearance in the Bookman of January, of a reference to it, and in the Nation of July 7 of a letter showing a misapprehension of the facts in the case, led Mr. Edmands to give in the Nation of July 28, a fuller statement than he had before published, as to his pamphlet and its relation to "Poole's Index." In the year 1847–48, Mr. Edmands was librarian of the "Brothers' Library" in Yale College (having been assistant in 1846–47, when his little index was published) and Dr. Poole became his assistant. Mr. Edmands is sure Dr. Poole's index work grew out of this index, which was in use in printed form when Dr. Poole first began his work in the library. It seems reasonable to suppose that Dr. Poole did get the suggestion of his Index from this pamphlet, nor is it strange if after forty years he failed to remember it. His own work was so much more extensive and its plan so different that he doubtless soon came to remember it as wholly planned by himself. However this may have been, it is evident that to Mr. Edmands belongs the honor of having first put in print a collection of references to periodicals and other books on subjects debated in college.

And as Mr. Rowell remarked in 1891, it is significant that this first index of the sort was a prototype of that combination of "Poole" and the "A. L. A. Index," which is quite generally recognized as "a consummation devoutly to be wished." For its references are, under each subject, made both to periodicals and to books of essays, etc. Of this the first subject mentioned gives a good example: —

MAY AN ADVOCATE DEFEND A CLIENT KNOWN TO BE GUILTY?

Gisborne, I, 331.
Sidney Smith's Works, II, 353.
Edin. Rev. LXIV, 82.
Law and Lawyers, II, 239.
Dymond's Essays, G., 2, Ch., 5.
Bentham's Works, VI, 350.
Knick. Mag., XXVIII, 373.

Sixty-three subjects are treated, and thanks to the compact arrangement, the references are, in some cases, quite numerous. For example on a Protective Tariff, there are twenty-two references to periodicals, and six to other books, on Liberty of the Press, twelve to periodicals and eight to books.

By the kindness of Mr. Edmands I have been able to add to what I had supposed was already a complete set of the Poole indexes, this "prehistoric Poole" and shall now consider my set perfect, until some one shall show another still more embryonic work on which Mr. Edmands based his!

A Reading List on Library Buildings.

Compiled by
LOUISE BEERSTECHER KRAUSE,
University of Illinois, 1898.

IT was the original intention of the compiler, to make a bibliography of all the material on library buildings in the English language, and to begin the work by exhausting the material in the library of the University of Illinois, and then supplement it, by research in the libraries of Chicago.

The field did not at first seem large, but as the work progressed, it was found impossible to carry out this plan in the allotted time. This was due not only to the large amount of material, particularly plans and descriptions of buildings, but also to the difficulty of compilation. The latter was due to the fact that there is but one work entirely confined to the subject of library buildings, Burgoyne's "Library Construction," and that the indexes to periodical literature give but few references to this subject. Therefore the only method of compilation was, to make a list of all works in which material was likely to be obtained, to examine the index of each volume, and often there being no index in a volume, or at best only an imperfect one, to examine it page by page.

After some thought it was decided that the most practical use which could be made of the references collected, was to make a reading list, limited to works in the library of the University of Illinois, for the use of the students in the Library School. It has been with this purpose in view that the work has been done, and the compiler hopes that it may be of service to those for whom it is primarily intended.

In conclusion, the compiler wishes to add a few explanations, on the scope of two of the divisions in the list. Under the division, Circulating libraries, no attempt has been made to give a complete list of the numerous plans in the library, but rather to select those which are important as types of buildings. Plans of circulating libraries in England, have also been excluded, as they are so fully treated in Burgoyne's "Library Construction," chap. 8–10. The plans of University libraries were of necessity limited to American universities, for lack of plans of foreign university libraries. L. B. K.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Periodicals have been examined for material to Ja 98 only.

All the material referred to in the list has been examined.

The few abbreviations used need no explanation.

The date of all periodical references is given, in addition to volume and page.

Plans in the American architect which have no pagination, have the number of the issue given.

Five or more interior views are denoted by the word "interiors" only.

Articles covering less than a page have their length given in ( ) parentheses.

THE ORDER OF THE COIF,

BY ALEXANDER PULLING.

This interesting historical account of the English order of Serjeants-at-Law, published in 1884 at two guineas (equivalent to about $10.50), has just been republished for the more reasonable price of $3.00 net.

It contains an account of law and lawyers before the time of Edward I; Aula Regis; the Courts at Westminster Hall; the Justiciars; the Judges and Serjeants of the Coif; Apprenticii ad Legem; the Inns of Court; the Forms, Solemnities and Usages kept up by the Bench and Bar, etc., etc.

There are eight illustrations (one in colors) of famous Serjeants in their robes and coifs, and of the early courts in session.

It is a good book for any public library.

A LAW BOOK FOR GENERAL USE.

(RAWLE'S REVISION OF BOUVIER'S LAW DICTIONARY.)

Very few law books are of use to the general public: but there is one prominent exception to this rule in BOUVIER'S LAW DICTIONARY, which has stood for fifty years as the only authoritative statement of legal principles, to which an unprofessional reader could turn for information in regard to state or national statutes and decisions, or to other law points too trivial, or not yet ripe, for consultation with a lawyer.

A new edition completely recast, rewritten and brought up to date by Francis Rawle, Esq., an able leader of the Philadelphia bar, is now ready.

Libraries, Schools, Banks, Corporations, Merchants, and General Readers, will find BOUVIER'S LAW DICTIONARY useful in answering everyday questions as to law and courts.

The work, complete in two large volumes, bound in law sheep, may be obtained $12.00 for net, from any bookseller, or direct from the publishers, The Boston Book Co., 15½ Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.

JOHN RUSKIN.

IGDRASIL, Journal of the Ruskin reading guild, London. Vols. 1–3. 1890–March, 1892. 3 vols. in 2, cloth, as new, all published. Indispensable to all students of Ruskin.

FORS CLAVIGERA, Letters to the workmen and labourers of Great Britain. 8 vols. and index. London, George Allen, 1871–87, half calf, tooled.

This scarce, long out of print edition, in new condition, with all the plates, is seldom met with. This is a fine set for a memorial collection in some library. The index (a volume of 503 pages) is unusually complete and well arranged.

ULRICHS VON HUTTEN.

Ulrichi Hutteni equitis Germani opera quae reperbi potuerunt omnia. Edidit Edvardus Böcking; Leipzig, 8 vo., 1859–69. 5 volumes and 2 supplementary volumes, newly bound in half morocco.

MARIA EDGEWORTH.

Tales and miscellaneous pieces, London, 12mo., 1825. 14 volumes, half calf, slightly worn.
